Financial Measure and Defends His Vote of Yesterday-A Denial That Any Compact Had Been Made With the Democrats.

SENATE.

When the Senate was called to order at 10 o'clock this morning the chamber presented a deserted appearance. There were only six Senators in their seats—four Reblicans and two Democrats, viz.; dessrs. Edmunds, Dixon, Washburne, Hale, Gorman and Faulkner.

After the prayer Mr. Edmunds sarcastically suggested that it was proper in give gentlemen who lived in a distant part of the city an opportunity to appear and attend to their legislative duties.

Attend to their legislative duties.

He therefore moved a recess for thirty minutes. But seventeen Senators responded to their names on Mr. Edmun's motion—not a quorum—and a call of the Senate was entered upon. No quorum appearing on the call Mr. Edmunds offered, and the Senate adopted a resolution requesting the Sergeant-at-Arms to invite absentees to appear at their own convenience. After the lapse of three-quarters of an hour, a quorum appeared, and the journal of yesterday's proceedings was read and approved.

oran hour, a quorum appeared, and the journal of yesterday's proceedings was read and approved.

The Presiding Offleer laid before the Senate a communication from the Secretary of the Treasury, asking for an appropriation of $50.000 for the repair of the custom-house at Chicago. Referred.

Mr. Hoar introduced a bill for the payment of the French Spoliation Claims.

A dispute arising as to the proper reference of the measure, Mr. Hoar withdrew it, and (disclaiming any responsibility for the contents of the documents) introduced a bill to establish a department of public periodicals, which was referred.

The Senate then resumed consideration of the Financial bill and was addressed by Mr. Teller.

He saida bill had been pending before the Senate for weeks, the importance of which he did not underrate, and the benevolent purpose of which he did not question, yet yesterday, with a full knowledge of all the criticism his action would bring, with a full consciousness, however, that he was in the discharge of his duty, as he saw it, he had voted to lay that bill aside and take up the present measure.

He knew when he did that that he measure.

He knew when he did that that he would renew the slanders that had been perpetrated for the last eight or ten menths outside and even in this Chamber to the effect that the friends of free coinage of silver had entered into an alliance with the opponents of the Election bill for its defeat in return for their votes in favor of free coinage.

During his public life he had never replied to a slander against him in the public press, nor anywhere else. But there were times in every man's life when the ordinary course might be departed from with propriety, and there never was a more unfounded slander published than the statement that there had been a combination between Republican Senators and the Senators on the other side who were opposed to the Elections bill.

He understood that he would be subject to criticism because it would be said that he was willing to place a question of dollars and cents above what the friends of the Elections bill was such an important question (demanding the individuals. If the Elections bill was such an important question is the lat of December, it was an equally important question last July, when it was laid aside by the friends of the measure in order that the economic question might be considered.

He did not underrate the importance of the economic question. Believing that that question was one of paramount importance he had voted to lay aside the Elections bill in order to take up the economic question. His remarks were not an apology for himself or his colleagues, for their action in voting to take up the Financial bill. They would answer to the people and to their constituencies for their course.

Passing to Mr. Sherman's speech, he declared that it was a composition of nothing but assertions as to what would follow the passage of the pendine bill. The rassing to Mr. Sherman's speech, he de-clared that it was a composition of noth-ing but assertions as to what would follow the passage of the pending bill. The Senator from Ohio had occupied high financial positions in this country. He had become, in certain sections of the country where the almighty dollar was all powerful, and where the grossest ignor-ance existed those financial grossitions. e existed upon financial questions, supon questions of discount and ex-save upon questions of discount and ex-change, a financial oracle.

Therefore the utterances of the Senator fell upon the country with great weight, not because there was anything in his statements, but because of the accidental position he had heretofore occupied and the reputation he had heretofore made.

The House to-day passed Senate bill for the relief of the sureties of George W. Hark of California; bill to limit and govern the changing of vessels names; bill requiring vessels to display their names on both sides of their bows.

Mr. Dingley called up bill repealing the law authorizing the President to suspend tonnage duties, and, after some discussion, the bill was passed.

GENERAL GROSVENOR'S VIEWS

Of the Chances in the House of a Free-It seems to be the general opinion that the Senate will pass Senator Stewart's amendment to the Financial bill, which emerdment to the Financial bill, which provides for the free coinage of silver. Whether free coinage will have smooth salling in the House or not is a question that is agitating the minds of a good many statesmen in and out of Congress. Congressman Grosvenor does not believe a free-coinage bill would be passed by the House. It is his opinion that enough Democratic votes could be mustered to defeat it. At the last session twenty-six Democratic members voted against free coinage. Mr. Grosvenor believes that at least forty would do so now.

Critical Condition. Senator John R. McPherson of New Jersey is a very sick man. His trouble is gastritis. He has been confined to his bed since last Saturday. He is in such a precarious condition that even his most timate friends are not permitted to see him.

Senator Hearst is still very low, and his recovery is doubtful. Vesterday he was at one time reported to be dead, but hanplly it was a false report. Should Mr. Hearst join the silent majority at this time his successor would be a Republican, that party having a heavy majority in the Legislature of California. His term dues not expire until 1803. "It is not reviseded that this measure is if tending to represent the earth and the fullness thereof.

"It is not pretended that this measure is in the interest of the farmer. It emanated in Eoston, Mass., in 1888, and was introduced into the Senate of the United States in behalf of John P. Squire & Co., pork packers of that city. Your memorialists were not aware, previous to its introduction, that farms and farmers flourished in Reston, Mass., nor that the agricultural interest of this country was under the guardianship of a Boston pork packer."

Speaking of the advocates of the bill the memorial says:

"The advocacy of the Conger bill by the demagogues of both political parties is sufficient to warn the Senate of its evil and dangerous tendencies; and therefore, trusting it will meet at your hands a deserved defeat, we remain." &c.

Altogether this farmers' memoral is interesting reading.

THE PROPOSED NEW ASSESSMENT BILL STRONGLY CONDEMNED.

Yearly or Bicanial Assessments Favored by the East Washington Citizens' Association-The Washington and Georgetown Railroad Likewise Comes in for Its Share of Condemnation for Refusing to Extend Its Line.

In response to a call for a meeting of the East Washington Asso-clation a number of the members urer, M. I. Weller, 326 Pennsylvania avenue, last night at 8 o'clock. President Dawson occupied the chair, and after the minutes of the last meeting had been adopted he called for reports of the comments, submitted a report.

He stated that a bill, No. 12755, supposed to remedy these evils had yesterday been placed on the House calendar, but it did not, by any means, cover the objection heretofore made. The committee from the East Washington Citizens' Association had, he continued, prepared a statement showing the deficiencies existing in the District revenues, owing to the inequality of the assessments, and illustrated why these deficiences occurred, and what remedies could be made. It was recommended to the Commissioners that the triennial assessment be done away with, insomuch as the city was growing so rapidly, and an assessment every year or two years substituted. It was also suggested that a board of five assessors be appointed by the President for a term of five years; that they come from the four sections of the city, and be required to furnish a bond of $25,000.

"I communicated with Hon. W. M.

"The bill framed and now on the cal-endar does not remedy the defects sug-gested. The three-year rule still exists, and other changes are needed. With all due respect to those who drew the bill up. I must say it is very crude and not what was needed."

I must say it is very crude and not what was needed."

Secretary Sperry asked whether it would not be advisable for the association to frame a new bill and have it substituted for the one now before Congress. Mr. Weller thought not, and he advised that bill No. 12755 now on the calendar be so amended as to meet the desired changes. A question arcse as to whether there was still a chance to have amendments made before the committee or whether it had not already been committee.

It was concluded to refer the matter back to the committee, with the understanding that the Congressional committees be immediately conferred with as to the most advisable action to take.

Mr. Leeman, chairman of the Railroad Committee, stated that a conference had been had in relation to the traction railway, but that the committee was not as Committee, stated that a conference had been had in relation to the traction railway, but that the committee was not as yet prepared to submit a report.

The next matter called up was the neccessity of an extension of the line of the Washington and Georgetown Railway to the Eastern Branch bridge. This rapidly growing section of the city demanded. Mr. Weller said, an immediate extension of the line. He recently had a consultation with the District Commissioners, also with President Hurt. The latter had told him that the company did not propose to ask for any legislation at this session in regard to the extensions, but since that time bills had been introduced asking for three of them; one to the Acqueduct Bridge and one to Cabin Johns Bridge, but for none to the Fastern Branch. "This organization," continued Mr. Weller, "has been granted all the franchiese they could possibly ask and they ought to be made to understood that the Eastern section of the city, which is growing so rapidly, demands this extension. Outside of assessment legislation this is the most important matter that needs attention from the citizens."

Mr. J. W. Babson moved that the Railway Committee be empowered to confer with the District Committee and urge the introduction of a bill providing for the East Washington line, and if it could not be done to resist the passage of the other. The motion prevailed.

There being no other business, the meeting adjourned.

What the other two Commissioners will do about the license question is an open one. Commissioner Koss is outspoken in favor of renewing the licenses of all those who have had a clean record during the past year, while Commissioner Restart, although not so favorably inclined, is nevertheless opposed to the limitation of the number of salcous either in regard to the city as a whole or a square. Still they will hardly set aside any decision he makes without serious consideration.

Although the Commissioners last year attempted to enforce the 400 rule, and Commissioner Robert co-operated with its author, yet when the license year expired on November 1 last 630, or 57½ per cent. more than the prescribed number, had been issued. In the First Precinct 120 retail licenses were granted, where this year, if the percentage of the 400 rule is followed, there will be but seventy-eight. In other words, forty-two saloons will be closed up in the business section of the city.

closed up in the business section of the city.

Among the many prominent places which Commissioner Douglass has recommended for rejection, one of the most prominent, is that of Theo. Felter. This is the cafe at Welcker's Hotel, one of the best known hosteries in the city, and possessing a national reputation. Another is that of August W. Noack or the Shoomaker Company on E street. This place is patronized by Supreme Court Justices, Congressmen, Government officials of high and low degree, and in every respect is one of the best conducted drinking establishments in the United States. It was the first to file its application for a license, and there can be nothing against it, for the house has always been careful to fully comply with the law. Le Mour's, on Eighth street, is another.

There a restaurant is run in connection with the place and is patronized by many prominent citizens. Brill's, in the Post building, has also been selected for rejection. This place is orderly, well conducted and the proprietor has always kept within the law. But these are but sample cases that have been picked out. Numerous others could be cited, and why these have been selected for rejection is a mystery.

THE EASTERN SECTION. Improvements Desired in It to Develop

Improvements Desired in It to Develop Contiguous Territory.

From the Anacostian.

We are asking to have Pennsylvania and New York avenues extended and improved. Both would accommodate a large class of residents that have paid taxes for a great many years, a very small percent, of which they are asking may be used to make their road into the city more tolerable.

make their road into the city more tolerable.

Pennsylvania avenue opened will bring a large part of the District within easy access of the city where now they have to go far around over hilly roads. The people out New York avenue northeast have to walk over the railroad to the Departments and to work, and they, in a petition to the Commissioners, state that there is not a vard of the track that is not stained with the blood of the citizens of that part of the District, and they humbly beg that the avenue be opened and further eacrifice of life spared.

These are necessary improvements demanded by present pressing needs of actual citizens who only ask that a part of the taxes they have been paying for many years be used for their good instead of that of the West End. All the improvements of any value, except the bridge at the foot of Pennsylvania avenue, have been given to the northwest, and now so large an appropriation is being asked for the exten-propriation is being asked for the exten-sion and improvement of Massachusetts avenue that there will be nothing left for the northeast.

There is no such necessity existing in this case as in either of the others. It is on the same line as so much of the other work done in the West End, not for the real residents, but for those who will settle there if the street is extended—in reality a real estate boom. We confess to a real respect for the enterprise that will push the interests of a section forward as they do, and we feel as if it is a confession of weakness that year after year we get nothing. Let us be in carnest and ask for what we want until we get it.

WASHINGTON CRITIC

Has Gone Into New Hands,

It has Put Off the Old Ways and has entered upon a career of youth and vigor.

It is No Longer a Political organ. It is independent in all things.

It is Now Free to Condemn whatever is wrong regardless of party consideration.

It is Free to Commend whatever is right and in the public interest.

Its Stockholder's List contains the names of some of the most substantial and prominent business and professional men in the community.

Its Circulation has already been enormously increased and the increase is still going on with the strides of the seven-league boots.

As an Advertising Medium who can show a better? It reaches the people and there is where advertisements do the most good.

Each Day it Contains the most complete and reliable summary of the transactions of that day in the Departments. It is therefore the paper of all others for Government employees.

Its Army and Navy News comes from sources which insure absolute accuracy.

It is therefore The Paper of all others for the Army and Navy and all that therein is.

It is the Last Paper which goes to press and therefore has

It is the First Paper which appears on the streets and is therefore the paper the people

It's Prices are Popular and therefore it is the people's paper.
